MJR Michael J. Rosen, P.A.
Attorney And Counselor

With precise, individualized care, the team at Michael J. Rosen, P.A. gives each white collar criminal defense case the time and dedication it deserves.

The Law literally runs through Michael Rosen's bloodline.

Mr. Rosen practiced federal criminal defense law with his father, famed attorney E. David Rosen, for 25 years. Mr. Rosen's brother and sister-in-law are both attorneys, his son is a partner in a leading international law firm, and his daughter is an intellectual property senior paralegal in one of the largest law firms in the country. His wife is founder and CEO of an innovative legal video firm, producing sentencing mitigation videos for federal judges and criminal defense attorneys nationwide.

Mr. Rosen is a graduate of the University of Miami School of Law, where he taught federal criminal law for a decade, all the while maintaining his own practice.

His career began in the crazy hot federal criminal courts of South Florida. Few other criminal defense attorneys have worked the wide-ranging and riveting criminal defense cases in some of the biggest RICO, drug, tax, health care, bank, and mail fraud cases in the country—from South Florida to New York, Washington, D.C., California, and many other states between both coasts.

Mr. Rosen is usually retained in the early stages of an investigation, when federal agents from the alphabet soup agencies (CIA, FBI, DEA, IRS, HHS) show up on the doorstep at 7:00 a.m., just to give the neighbors something to talk about, and say "we just want to ask you some questions," or "here's a subpoena for your business records for the last 10 years."

From that point forward, Mr. Rosen and his firm become intimately involved in all aspects of clients' defense in order to show the U.S. Attorney's office why their agent's suspicions are wrong. This sometimes takes years of dedicated strategy and planning. This includes legal research and writing; witness interviews; full review of the client's books and records; and all necessary financial documents. It may also include grand jury litigation, attorney-client privilege litigation, and appeals that may follow. This is the reason he limits his practice—in order to focus total time and attention to each client. As a matter of privacy, Mr. Rosen does not disclose clients' names or their cases in a public forum.

Other times, an arrest is made at the client's front door. Trial preparation begins immediately. From acquittals in corporate health care fraud, RICO, bribery, conspiracy, and corruption trials to convincing prosecutors not to charge a client or mitigating potential damage, he has achieved very positive results for his clients over many years.

Mr. Rosen's practice is varied, complex, and successful. It comes from dedication to each client and a burning desire to win.
